WE NOMINATE

Eight distinguished Princetonians who over the course of the next several months will be lecturing throughout these United States on an unusual lecture foundation devoted to making the "knowledge and understanding developed in university scholarship available to persons outside of the university community." While in the past two decades, particularly since the end of World War II, adult education programs have expanded by leaps and bounds, there is nothing comparable to the University's year-old Baker Lecture Series, established by a non-Princetonian as a partial answer to the problem of maintaining effective liaison between faculty members and alumni, wherever the latter may be located.

Marking one of the few times in the history of higher education that a major institution has attempted "to put the show on the road", and has thereby violated the tradition of limiting its representation in the "hinterlands" to a traveling athletic team or musical organization, the 1953-54 Baker Lectures will present a cross-section of a modern-day university's liberal arts curriculum. A sponsoring alumni group in Texas might ask for "The International Race for Scientific Knowledge", another organization for "Tito and the Balkans" and still another for "The Crisis in the Near East", or for illustrated lectures on either "Light from the Ancient Past" or "Michelangelo".

Outstanding achievement and audience interest are the yardsticks applied by the committee-in-charge in making their annual selections which this year list representatives of seven different departments, including two members of the Department of Art and Archaeology, Swedish-born Erik Sjöqvist, formerly an adviser to the King of Sweden, and W. Frederick Stohlman, well into his third decade as a Princetonian and for many years associated with the monumental Index of Christian Art. The others, ranging in age from 38 to 57, are Cyril Edwin Black, Gordon Alexander Craig, Lawrence Roger Thompson, John Turkevich, Ira Owen Wade and T. Cuyler Young.

Each of these men is widely known beyond his area of concentration. For instance, Wade, the late Christian Gauss' successor as chairman of the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures, was responsible for the introduction of Princeton's Special Program in European Culture. Young, the first incumbent of the Garrett Professorship of Foreign Affairs, is a front-rank specialist in Near Eastern affairs and Turkevich a consultant to such key agencies and installations as the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and the Brookhaven National Laboratory. Thompson's definitive writings in modern American literature have won critical acclaim. Craig has collaborated on two of the most discussed historical works of the past 10 years and Black has served both this Nation and the United Nations in the Balkans and Eastern Europe.

For qualifying as ambassadors-at-large for the Community of Princeton; for demonstrating that the way of the educator is anything but life in the much-maligned "Ivory Tower"; for helping insure the success of a new venture in the field of adult education; these eight men are Town Topics' nominees for Contests Ahead. Before next Wednesday's deadline for filing petitions to the community's two boards of education passed, a full-fledged race was expected to develop in at least one of them. Indications were that contests would be staged for every one of four vacancies in the township.

Incumbents whose three-year terms expire are Mrs. Francis J. Darke, Jr., Laurel Road, former PTA president; William F. Gale, 59 Birch Avenue, operator of a dry-cleaning establishment; and Mrs. Frederick H. Nicoll, 287 Western Way (board president whose annual report is summarized below.) A two-year seat on the board is also vacant by reason of last year's resignation of Dr. Henry Chauncey.

Of the incumbents, only Mr. Gale's petition for re-election has been filed with District Clerk William M. Karch, but those for Mrs. Darke and Mrs. Nicoll are expected to be turned in well before the deadline. Running for the three-year terms are William M. Sloane of Valley Road New York attorney; and John M. Landis of Mansgrove Road, active in the atomic energy division of the Bahcock-Wilcox Company in New York. Delos Schoch of Ridge Road, rowing coach at the University, is a candidate for the two-year term.

Petitions are also in circulation for James A. Perkins of Edgerstoune Road, vice-president of the Carnegie Foundation in New York; and William L. Wilson of Jefferson Road, who holds a similar post in the Commercial Investment Trust Company in New York. Mr. Perkins' candidacy is expected to be for the two-year term.

At mid-week, the borough's three incumbents had all filed for re-election and had no opposition. They are Dr. Elizabeth H. Cawley of 111 FitzRandolph Road; Dr. Jeremiah S. Finch of 76 Alexander Street, Assistant Dean of the College at Princeton; and Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, a faculty member at Princeton Theological Seminary.

The League of Women Voters has issued a statement calling attention to Wednesday's deadline and the February 9 election. It points out that all men and women over 21 who have lived in the district for three years are eligible for office, and that board members are largely responsible for the character and standards of public education in their communities.

The league also issued a reminder that public hearings on the budgets will be held Tuesday night in each district. They are scheduled for 8 p. m. at the Valley Road and Princeton High Schools.

Progress at Valley Road. Progress in numerous aspects of a comprehensive program is reported for the Township Public Schools in the annual report made public this week by Mrs. Frederick H. Nicoll, president of the district's Board of Education. No delay was encountered in view of the impending vote on consolidation, Mrs. Nicoll indicated, finding that "a great deal of useful work was accomplished."

A five-point program, planned last April by Dr. Henry Chauncey, Dr. William S. Carpenter and Mrs. Francis J. Darke, received constant attention in recent months, Mrs. Nicoll reports. Included were a study of the insurance program, which has resulted in improvements in property coverage as well as financial protection for athletic teams; revision of the dental program to conform to new state regulations; and a detailed investigation, undertaken by Dr. J. Donald Butler, of "ability grouping." Present policy, Mrs. Nicoll states, calls for heterogeneous grouping throughout the school, with the matter to be kept under attention.

Mrs. Nicoll also commented favorably on the board's information program, of which Mrs. Paul Smith has been in charge. Her first annual report, she pointed out, is a direct result of the public relations policy, as is material supplied to newspapers and a personal discussion with the Township Committee of the new school budget.

The board is also embarking on a comprehensive evaluation of each department of instruction in the school. On a basis of the recommendations at the December meeting by Mrs. Darke and Dr. Carpenter, budget provisions have been made for a full-time language teacher and tentative Plans are being made to begin the teaching of a modern foreign language (probably French) much earlier than is presently the case.

Remedial reading will also require the services of a full-time teacher next year, Mrs. Nicoll reported, while other matters receiving attention are the acceleration program; improvement to the physical plant, including the playground; and the need for further increases in teachers' salaries. "Fortunately," Mrs. Nicoll declared, "the proposition that money spent on teachers' salaries is money well spent meets with very little opposition."

The biggest problem confronting the district is the steadily mounting school enrollment. To determine when present facilities will become inadequate, it has been planned to maintain, insofar as possible, a class load of 20 to 25 students from the kindergarten through grade three, and 25 to 30 pupils through grade eight. A population survey of the district is planned for the coming months as a guide to the future.

"The Good Old Days." After an absence of five years, real winter came back to Princeton this week bringing with it temperatures closer to zero than the freezing mark and eight inches of snow. Reactions to the town's white background were varied, depend-

Air Raid Test Saturday

The Joint Civilian Defense Council has announced through its chairman, Col. Francis J. Darke, that an air raid warning test will be held at noon this Saturday.

All five sirens will be sounded, including the one just installed on Elm Road between Stockton Street and Armour Road. The council has stressed the fact that the occasion will be a test of physical equipment only and that no civilian participation is planned.

ing on how the individual was affected.

For hundreds of school children, it meant a holiday, with every educational institution below the college level closed Monday and smaller schools remaining closed Tuesday. Sliding equipment, from sled to skis and with the kitchen dishpan not completely overlooked, got a workout unparalleled since the last big snowfall in December, 1948.

For pedestrians and car owners, the snow was more of a problem, ranging from the need for shoveling and applying little-used chains to cars, to traffic troubles and dented fenders. Flakes were first seen Sunday afternoon about 2 but did not seem bent on conquering the community until well after dark.

With Monday morning's arrival, there were seven inches on the ground and more still in the air, but predictions of a second storm Tuesday proved inaccurate. The result was a welcome of varying degrees from children and adults, but even in the latter age-bracket, it took a considerable curmudgeon to deny the picturesque qualities of the sparkling scene.

The Human Side of a Bank. The story of a bank's steady growth in a steadily growing community is told in the annual report of The First National Bank made this week by President John P. Poe. It contains an impressive series of figures showing the increase in banking services during the past year, but more than that, it records the bank's assistance in helping maintain a sound economy in the Princeton community. Total assets increased during 1953 by better than 12%. Mr. Poe pointed, Deposits jumped by $2,500,000, with resources listed as in excess of $22,700,000.

In transacting business for the community, the First National handled $42,000,000 in cash and more than 2,000,000 separate checks and deposits, both activities setting new high marks. The average number of such items on a daily basis rose by 800 to 9,200.

Other figures were in line with the trend: savings accounts up by 563 to 9,351; 407 more checking accounts, with the number now over 7,800; and a comparable increase in numerous other services. Cash received by tellers and from the Federal Reserve Bank and cash paid out increased by $3,600,000, topping $42,600,00.

But the figures, Mr. Poe pointed out, are important primarily because "they tell of the growth of our community, the trade with our merchants, the payments for services, the investments they represent—in general, the hopes and fears, the gratifications and the burdens of our people. It is a story which can never fully be told, but this picture of our activities will, I hope, let you guess some fraction of its volume, and estimate to some degree what lies behind the facade of our local economy."

The bank made numerous loans that aided in many aspects of community life, and wrote 141 new mortgages—42 of them to ex-service men. The total value of 705 such loans on December 31 was in excess of $5,500,000.

On other matters, Mr. Poe reported that the bank's Trust Department handled a growing volume of business and that "we are fully equipped to help on all such matters. The cost is small and the benefits great," he commented, "as more and more people are coming to recognize."

Plans for major physical expansion, necessarily of a long-range nature, have been aided by such policies as the Friday evening hours from 5 to 7; use of the outside deposit slot and banking by mail. Air conditioning is being installed for the summer heat, while preparation for major changes included writing off the value of the five-story building to a point where it is now carried at $7,000.

Earnings for the year came to $62.50 per share of the 2,000 shares of stock before taxes and $42.70 a share after taxes. This is approximately 12% on capital funds before taxes, Mr. Poe said, and about 7.8% after taxes.

On average deposits and capital funds of some $21,000,000, however, it amounts to 4 1/10 of 1% after tax, "a very small brokerage fee," Mr. Poe commented. "No other business," he added, "operates on so small a margin of profit and, while we may feel it is satisfactory, our customers should certainly realize how little they have to pay for the services they receive."

The president took note of the bank's 60th anniversary, and of the association with it during the entire six decades of Joseph S.

Age Limits Removed
Volunteers of any age, including high school seniors, may now register for the nurses' aide training course to start January 23 under auspices of the Princeton Red Cross chapter. Mrs. Ledié I. Laughlin, Service Groups Chairman, has announced that age limits have been removed by the Red Cross for this and other units to which they had previously applied.

Women over 21 are being accepted to serve as Gray Ladies at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman, where 12 indoctrination lectures will be given by psychiatrists and psychologists. Further information may be obtained from Red Cross headquarters (2401) or in the evening from Mrs. Hans Classen (2381). The chapter has also asked for knitting volunteers, since a new supply of wool and instructions for knitting small pieces and sleeveless sweaters are available.

Hoff, chairman of the board. He noted the retirement of Van Buren Leigh, assistant cashier, after service since 1898 and of the indefinite leave of absence because of ill health granted to Raymond V. Cortelyou, Executive Vice-President and Cashier.

The report also recorded the death during 1953 of two of the bank's directors, Curtis W. McGraw and Henry W. Jeffers. One vacancy was filled by the election of Crawford Jamieson, attorney whose offices are here and in Trenton.

Warning Sounded. Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro gave suspended workhouse sentences this week to three defendants charged with fighting outside Princeton High School following the school's basketball game with Long Branch Friday night. Freddie Lee Wilson, 33 Jackson Street, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct, was given a two-month sentence that was not invoked and paid a $25 fine. Two Long Branch residents received similar penalties.

Magistrate Chesebro warned that similar offenders in the future will receive jail sentences.

A sizeable crowd watched the fight, which four patrolmen broke up before it had a chance to spread, the magistrate reported.

Fined for careless driving were George T. Grover, 16 Chestnut Street, and Sebastian P. Lisi, 309 Witherspoon Street. They paid respective fines of $25 and $15.

Turkey's President Is Coming. President Celal Bayar of Turkey and his wife will visit Princeton Saturday afternoon, January 31, making this community and the University the first stop on a nation-wide tour.

President Bayar will arrive in Washington by plane the preceding Wednesday and will remain in the nation's capital until the trip to Princeton. After a visit here from approximately 1 to 5 —Continued on Page 6

News of the Theatres

In Brief. The Playhouse will install CinemaScope, the most popular of the wide screen systems, as soon as it is technically possible, according to a decision reached this week. Manager Richard W. Knight has already started arranging for the new equipment and full details should be available shortly. CinemaScope was introduced to the public by "The Robe" and has caught on to the tune of a $16,500,000 gross to date on that picture alone.

Theatre Intime has reversed its field again and decided to produce Shakespeare's "Henry IV, Part I" in March. It has been reported that the campus organization reverted to its original choice for a winter production because of internal dissension created by the proposal to perform "Hamlet."

THE PLAYHOUSE

All the Brothers Were Valiant (Thurs.-Sat.) throws around action and excitement in indiscriminate fashion. Made once before, the film has whaling, romance, kidnapping, a fortune in pearls, mutiny and various other popular ingredients, including Technicolor. The "big name" cast includes Robert Taylor, Stewart Granger, Ann Blyth, Betta St. John, Keenan Wynn, James Whitmore and Kurt Kasznar.

Escape From Fort Bravo (Sun.-Tues.) has the action and pace of a better-than-average western, plus a story that's somewhat different for a change. The fort in question is a prison for Confederate soldiers and escaping is difficult, what with nearby Indians and Arizona's Death Valley (which provides a handsome background in AnseColor). William Holden, William Demarest, John Forsythe and Eleanor Parker.

The Beggar's Opera (Wed.-Sat.) has many, many things to recommend it. Those not familiar with John Gay's classic 18th century operetta should bear in mind that this is not the typical song-and-dance musical, but on the other hand it is one of the best adaptations ever of an operetta. It has liveliness, colorful scenes, a continuously fresh melodic score, and a marvelous photographic job in Technicolor. The role of MacHeath, the highwayman whose low-life and numerous loves are the substance of the film, is taken by none other than Sir Laurence Olivier. He won't put the professional singers out of work, but he does have a charming nonchalant touch neatly suited to the light, traditional airs.

THE GARDEN

The Stranger Wore a Gun (Thurs.-Sat.) is a western quickie and it shows. Randolph Scott plays an ex-Confederate spy who has a hard time going straight out in the wild west. The standard perils beset him. Other principals are Claire Trevor, Joan Weldon and George Macready. Technicolor.

Annapurna (Mon.-Thurs.), the best documentary of 1953 and in a way the year's top picture, is here for four days. The film of the ascent of the 23,493-foot peak and the harrowing downward trip are stirring, fascinating, and packed with the wild beauty of the icy mountain (captured in

Announcing The New Packard CLIPPER

The new Packard CLIPPER Panama Hardtop! Sportiest car in the new CLIPPER line.

See the 1954 Packard line at your dealer's beginning Friday, January 15th.

America's Newest Medium-Priced Car!

Luxury at a lot less...because Packard builds it

A year ago the Packard CLIPPER was introduced as America's newest medium-priced car.

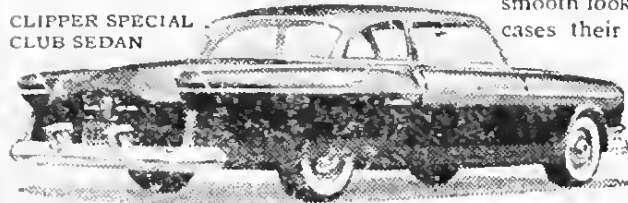

■ And men who know were quick to say: "That's a lot of car for the money!"

■ And it was a lot of car for the money. And it is a lot of car for the money. Because Packard builds it.

So the news spread!

■ And in 1954 the new CLIPPER brings you fine-car luxuries, fine-car

power, fine-car ride... (the high-price features everybody wants)... and yet at a popular, medium price!

■ We have built a finer car for '54 because experience in '53 proved that there are many thousands of Americans who want a true luxury car in the medium-price range.

■ Most cars in the medium-price field are simply big brothers of smaller cars made by the same company. These cars may offer the modern gadgets and the smooth look of the big car, but in most cases their basic engineering is still influenced by small-car engineering.

"Packard-built" makes the difference

■ No feature or claim will ever give you a more powerful reason for buying a CLIPPER than the name Packard.

■ You'll find the reason when you take command of a Packard CLIPPER and put it through its paces over a road of your own choosing. Make that date with "Packard-built quality at a popular, medium price" very soon...won't you?

■ You'll get luxury for a lot less in a Packard CLIPPER.

Since you can't test the new Packard CLIPPER at the famous Packard Proving Ground, get the story, fact by fact, on the pocket proving ground at your dealer's. But don't stop there! For the real thrill, drive a CLIPPER. N-130C

Music in Princeton

Quintet Well Received. Music of Haydn, Beethoven, Beresowsky, Moore, Wailly and Ibert was given an engaging presentation by the Philadelphia Woodwind Quintet at the McCarter Tuesday night. A spirit of gaiety, caustic wit and pyrotechnics dominated the musical atmosphere, artfully entertaining for a trifftoo uniform in character for one program. The musicianship of the group was at its customarily high level and its performance of notable contemporary and older music was warmly appreciated.

The "Divertimento in D Flat" by Haydn and the "Quintet in E Flat" by Beethoven were originally composed for a different combination of instruments than woodwind quintet, but the arrangements as well as the timbres of the group were well balanced. In both pieces, musical phrasing was gracefully shaped, coordination was precise and dynamics were sensitively observed.

A vigorous Petroushka-like vitality gave pleasant impetus to the first movement of Mr. Beresowsky's suite. The post-impressionistic second movement was too stylistically contrasted from the first but stylistic unity was regained in the third movement and employed consistently throughout. The two remaining movements had imaginative color and rhythmic animation.

Apart from a few imprecise entrances, Mr. Moore's quintet fared well. The first movement, maestoso - allegro moderato-maestoso, suffers from heavy-handed doubling and like a pompous statement and a humorless comedian vying for an audience, stretches and strains to be majestic and witty. The remaining expressive andante and energetic march come off quite convincingly.

Mr. Wailly's clever showpiece succeeds in its purpose and was executed with fresh and tender expressiveness. The three short pieces of Mr. Ibert, full of charm and Offenbach-like flippancy, were quite appropriately charming and flippancy in their performance, although the allegro and andante were executed respectively too slowly and too quickly. The remaining restful encore by Percy Grainger, replete with rosy repose and rapid repetition, was reasonably rendered by the ensemble and rousingly received by the audience.

PRINCETON SYMPHONY
The Princeton Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Nicholas Harsanyi, will give its winter concert this Saturday evening at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre. It is recommended that tickets be obtained as soon as possible (at the University Store and the box office Saturday evening), since there has been a heavy demand.

Gaby Casadesus, one of Princeton's most renowned artists, will make one of her rare appearances here, as soloist in Mozart's Concerto in E-Flat for Piano and Orchestra and Faure's Ballade for Piano and Orchestra. Other works on the program will be Nathaniel Burt's "Elegy of Lycidas" (first performance), the overture to Rossini's "Semiramide," and four waltzes from the Richard Strauss light opera "Der Rosenkavalier."

CHILDREN'S CONCERT
The orchestra will also give a Children's Concert on Saturday, starting promptly at 3:30 in McCarter. Mr. Harsanyi will direct a program designed for children in grades one through eighth grade. Tickets may be obtained through the schools, at the University Store and at the box office.

Along with the "Rosenkavalier" waltzes, the Overture to "Semiramide" and one movement of Handel's Horn Concerto featuring Weldon Wilbur, the program will include a demonstration of brass instruments by four students at Princeton High and a Fugue for Three Instruments written by John Harbison. Mrs. Harold Van Doren will provide a commentary.

The stockings collected will be sold for reproposing, with the funds used to purchase the 31 sets sold by the nylon committee of the newly-formed association for aiding the Institute. The drive, which will be extended to other counties shortly, is under the direction of Mrs. Hibben Ziesing of Edgerstoune Road. Television has become part of the treatment-through-music program of the Institute.

Five sets have already been donated, two having been given by the Ortho-Chemical Corporation of New Jersey and three by individuals. In addition, an anonymous contribution of $500 by a member of the association has been made to its fund, which will be used for the building of a new store for use of the patients, their friends and relatives.

Change at J. W. Miller's. The firm of J.W. Miller's Sons of Alexander Street made news this week with the announcement that Joseph W. Miller is withdrawing from it to devote full time to soft water service installations. Robert C. Miller will continue as sole proprietor of the firm, selling coal and motor stokers, and plans to make fuel oil available in the spring. No name change will be made.

Joseph Miller will open the Soft Water Service Company as of February 1, with offices at the Nassau Oil Company on the Somerville Road. Nassau Oil's Culligan Soft Water Service will be in his charge and all Servisoft units in the community will be changed to Culligan at no cost to the householder.

The firm of J.W. Miller was established in 1928 by the late Mr. Miller and his son, Robert, following the latter's graduation from Princeton that year. Joseph Miller joined the firm upon graduating from the University in 1934. When the elder Miller died in 1942, the firm name became J.W. Miller's Sons.

Tigers Appear Weak. While nothing is to be gained by counting a team out before the season is barely under way, Princeton's basketball and hockey forces still must convince their followers that they can play the brand of game essential to make them contenders in their respective leagues. It is probable that each will improve as the season progresses and in each case, the schedule should aid such development. Both outfits have a majority of their road games away from home early in the season and finish with a large number of contests in Princeton. Actually, the hockey team does not begin defense of its Pentagonal title until Saturday at Hanover. Dartmouth will be favored, if for no other reason than the calibre of play exhibited by the Tigers in their first home games of 1954 last week against Providence College and Army.

In similar fashion, Princeton's basketball team may make it rough for several of the contenders in the Eastern League as the season nears a climax. Off its lackluster performance against Harvard, however, the Nassau quintet is too uncertain a factor to be counted on week in and week out.

Hockey Team Splits. The hockey team's play picked up in the final period against Army, when five goals were scored in staccato fashion to break a close game open. It ended as a 7-1 final after the Tigers had been held to 2-1 until eight minutes of the last period.

Pete Call, Dick Court, Roger Boocock, George Scragg and Ed Stimpson all scored in the final 12 minutes against the reds, three of the goals coming in a slam-bang flurry that covered just 90 seconds. It was somewhat surprising, however, that it took the Orange and Black that long to move away from the visitors, who were woefully short of experience.

Army's attack was so weak that Blair Torrey was called on to stop only seven shots, one of which got by him. Three and four minutes at a time went by before the losers could carry the puck across two blue lines.

Meantime, Army goalie Dirk Lueders was in constant action, kicking out 43 shots in addition to the seven that beat him. His play, plus early inability on the Tigers' part in capitalizing on their best opportunities, kept the contest close during most of the afternoon.

Thursday night's performance against little Providence College was disheartening because the visitors won purely on hustle and Princeton lost purely for the lack of it. The home forces blew a 2-0 lead and played disorganized, often spiritless hockey in losing 4-3. Providence record until that time was 0-5.

Trip to the North. The week-end excursion will begin with a game in Troy, N. Y., against Rensselaer Polytech, which already holds a 5-0 triumph over the Tigers. The Dartmouth contest will follow Saturday and will be the last until the team meets little American International College here on Monday, February 1.

Dartmouth now has artificial ice for the first time in its history, the warm winters having dealt hockey fortunes at the New Hampshire institution a solid blow in recent years. The Indians are considerably stronger than last season, and will drive hard for their first triumph over the Tigers since 1951.

Quintet Upset. Nassau basketball forces appeared on the verge of being able to upset gloomy pre-season predictions for them in the Eastern League until they went to Cambridge on Saturday. They had completed a highly successful four-game road trip and were planning on making a weak Harvard quintet their first victim in circuit play.

After a 13-all first period, however, they ran consistently behind a Crimson outfit that had lost its three previous starts. Defensive play was sufficiently weak so that the visitors accounted for 23 points in the final ten minutes of the first half. Meanwhile, the Tigers' attack sputtered and fizzled, hearing no resemblance to the offense that had ticked for an average of 76.5 points in four road games after Christmas.

Bud Haabestad was pared to 11, including just three field goals. Phil Zuravleff had 16 and Dick Batt collected 11, but was held to one in the second half after getting ten in the first. The Tigers were charged with 23 personal to 17 for the Crimson, which won with ease, 64-53.

Brown will play here Friday night at 8 in the first league appearance for the Rhode Island quintet in Dillon Cym. The Bruins were admitted to the circuit this season, making it an eight-team affair.

Brown has not played Princeton in basketball since 1931 and has never beaten the Tigers in four tries. The game will be the last until after exams, Temple coming here February 2.

Two Losses in a Row. Tuesday night saw the Nassau quintet drop its second league encounter in as many starts when Columbia ran in front most of the way to register a 62-60 triumph. The contest was not as close as the final score would indicate, the Lions holding a ten-point lead with something under three minutes left and the final Princeton field goal that payed the margin to two points going through as the buzzer sounded.

The first 15 minutes of the televised affair produced a see-saw battle which could have gone either way. As much as anything else, the outcome was determined by the ten points that Columbia substitute Ed Lehman scored in the second quarter.

He was almost totally unguarded in making every one of five set shots, the performance serving to give the New Yorkers a 37-29 bulge at the intermission. The Lions were in trouble at the time, three of their starters having committed three fouls apiece, but Lehman's effort sent them home free.

The victors increased their advantage in the third period, leading 49-37 with ten minutes left. By that time, Dick Batt and Phil Zuravieff had fouled out, and substitutes sparked the rally. For the third time this season, sophomore John DeVoe got off the bench and ended in double figures. He racked up 11, all in the second half, with his favorite left-handed pop shot.

Bud Haabestad, high-scoring member of the Nassau quintet, was held to 10 points and was again having consistent trouble hitting from the floor. John Easton was high for the first time this season with 15; Dick Batt made 11 before he left the action.

While a series of defensive lapses, including numerous occasions on which players were badly faked out, cost the Orange and Black heavily, its shooting averaged continued unusually low. After hitting on only 26% against Harvard, the team connected on 18 of 66 in New York for a slim 27%.

The victory was Columbia's second against a pair of losses. Neither team is figured to be able to stick with Cornell and Penn, who are about to make a two-team race of the league season before it is a quarter gone.

Ivy Grows In Cincinnati. Meetings of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Football Rules Committee came and went at Cincinnati without making unexpected news. There will be restricted television in 1954 and if any change in the substitution rule is made, it will be strictly of the minor variety.

What news did break in Cincinnati wasn't supposed to come from there at all. Presidents of the eight Ivy League colleges had met in New York on December 18 and reportedly approved plans for a football round-robin, starting in 1956.

In the absence of any planned publicity release during the next fortnight, word of their action was unofficially made public by one or more athletic directors attending the NCAA session. From point of view of well-handled public relations, it made the Ivies appear somewhat naive—a comment that had been made about them on other occasions and probably with sound justification.

The schedules for the next two seasons have been completed to the extent that 1956 is the first year when everyone of the eight colleges can meet the other seven. The obvious result is that only two of the traditional opponents among non-Ivy colleges can be played by each member of the proposed circuit. In Princeton's case, no university other than Rutgers has been on the schedule with any degree of regularity in the post-war years, with the possible exception of Navy. The mid-dies had been dropped after last fall in any event.

One of the major changes insofar as Princeton is concerned will be a maximum of six home games after 1955. In addition to the periodic visits to Ithaca, the Tigers will go to Hanover, N. H., for the first time in history. Trips there once every four years would be normal; what the Indians'

16,000 capacity stadium will do to the athletic budget is a future problem, but apparently it will not stand in the way of formalizing the Ivy League.

PHS Loses in Overtime. A desperation basket from near mid-court with two seconds remaining erased a 56-54 Princeton High lead last Friday and sent the contest into overtime. The Little Tigers dropped the contest 61-58, at the Princeton High gym.

Jim Perri of Long Branch tallied the long-distance shot which sank the Blue and White cagers after they had held the lead throughout the closing minutes. In the extra session, the visitors netted five points to a lone field goal for the Little Tigers to effect the final three-point margin.

Marv Trottmann paced the home forces with 24 points, topping all scorers, and was the big gun in the Little Tigers' closing drive. Bob Montgomery garnered 15 points for PHS.

The Blue and White cagers tangle with Hamilton High at the Princeton High gym this Friday night at S. The Little Tigers' will take to the road Tuesday to meet Ewing Township High.

Hun Humbled. Hun School's Jim Lavan did as much as he possibly could, scoring 21 of the Johnny Huns' 35 points, but it wasn't enough to avert the 61-35 shellacking dealt the Red and Black by St. Benedict's in Newark Saturday.

A layup by Bill Crosby sent St. Benedict's into a 2-0 lead in the opening seconds and the losers never caught up. The host team outscored the Red and Black in every period, piling up a 27-15 halftime lead and coasting through the second half.

Friday Hun takes on Solebury School in the Hun School gym at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday the Johnny Huns will journey to battle the Bryn Athyn School.

Short Notes. Summer Rulon-Miller of Newlin Road is a leading member of the Lawrenceville School hockey team. In the prep school tournament staged in Baker Rink on New Year's weekend, he alternated on defense and as a forward, scoring one goal and being credited with an assist on another.

Another Lawrenceville product, George Scragg, is currently pacing the scoring on the Princeton varsity. The two goals and three assists he made against Army raised his point total for the season to 11.

Saturday spectator activity is limited to wrestling in the gym, with freshman and junior varsity meets set for 2:30 and the varsity taking on Pennsylvania at 4. A 16-day break for exams follows.

With the panel comes a set of hooks, stabilizers and clips that you use to hang the panel, and then hang your pots and pans. You may use it in a sewing room for scissors, tapes and thread (hook in hole, spool on hook); or in a workroom for tools. Price is $2.98.

Suit for Spring. Or Summer. The cream-colored cotton cord we saw at Bailey's, 14 Witherspoon, is wearable a good half of the year. Striped in purple, blue, brown, black or red, it comes with straight or full skirt, classic or box jacket, sizes 7-18 for only $9.95.

More for January than for June is a gored felt skirt with high princess waist. In red, blue, white, black or turquoise for $9.95. Another skirt for another occasion is black nylon net (or black nylon lace) in three layers over black taffeta. Belted with black velvet for $10.95. If you prefer, you can have one with blue underneath instead of black.

Somebody has put bright marine print on burlap, of all things. We saw it, a circle of fabric, in red with black. You may have it also in cocoa with black print. It's lined, of course. Priced at $10.95.

Bateman. Patrons of the Nassau Tavern know the hilarious prints by H. M. Bateman. The Little Gallery, after a great deal of detective work, has found a print shop in England that stocks the Bateman prints and you may buy them—big fellows, they are—at The Gallery (39 Palmer Square West) for $5 each. A few of them happen to be signed and these are $5, too.

There are about 25 different prints at The Gallery, some of them obscurely English in their humor, but most of them quite entertaining, even for American tastes. All of them are captioned. "The man who . . ." is the general subject, as you know. We liked the one of the Guards going bathing—all marching into the sea in regimental solemnity.

You Should See What's Going On Up In Mrs. Brown's Attic!!

Folks all along the line are talking about the big doings up in Mrs. Brown's attic. The B's are turning it into an extra bedroom.

We helped them plan it and Mr. B is doing a terrific job for an amateur . . . AND—we supplied everything from wall paneling to the last door hinge.

The cost is low and we helped arrange financing. Sure we'll do the same for you. Just ask!
